

Overview

*Elite understands that the key to delivering successful Programmes and Projects is through managing change and minimalising risk to the business.

Whether Your Business is looking to adopt a new internal project methodology, rationalise your current programme portfolio or simply supplement your existing team with experienced E&P resources, Elite has the people and toolsets to support your business.

Methodology

For a programme or project to meet the expectations of the business and deliver true value, at minimal risk, a clear and managed methodology must be followed. If Your Business is looking for a new project framework to be delivered or requires a vendor partner that will supply resources who will seamlessly interface into your in-house project methodology, Elite has the experience and competence to support your enterprise. We can deliver a fully managed project solution or supply industry experts across the full scope of project services to add value to your existing teams.

Elite utilises a Prince2 based in-house methodology that we adopt throughout the programme/project lifecycle.

Governance

Project and Programme Professionals

Whether Your Business requires a fully resourced managed solution or the introduction of best practice through highly experienced, certified individuals, our team of delivery focused professionals will ensure the successful delivery of your programmes/projects.

Elite has an in-house group of project professionals ranging from Programme Directors through to business facing Change Managers. We ensure that we work closely with Our Clients in identifying their resource requirements so they receive the right resource model for their projects. Our team will ensure that you have the right balance between project, technical, business and change knowledge that ensure successful delivery at every level of your portfolio.

Change Management

Elite understands that effective change management comes through the use of standardised methodologies and procedures that give the business owners clear visibility of the change and its relative risk/impact to the project or programme.

Our Consultants understand how to plan, execute and monitor the life cycle of change to ensure that the impact is expected and delivered in accordance to the original design. Whether the change is technical, process or behavioural focused we have the experience and expertise to ensure the desired outcome is always achieved.

Elite provides Programme and Project Services that are driven by our domain expertise, our innovative staff and in-house best practice.
